

Task: what am I selling

Time for another fun task, choosing what you will be selling on the marketplace

How to choose what to sell

1. Research industry trends (articles, blog posts, and news from well-established tech websites, GitHub, Stack Overflow, and Reddit, Twitter and LinkedIn, analyze job postings and freelance project listings)
2. Which trend is in high demand (which occur the most, what do people talk about a lot)
3. What has highest advantage as a newcomer (you are looking for something that will get you a lot of feedback fast ranking you up fast)
4. Can I do this? (after you find what you wanna sell look at project requirements of job postings for it and try to complete it)

The thing you are selling doesn't have to be only one thing it can be multiple things after you align with correct marketplace, you will also align with what you are selling most important thing is be adaptable try multiple things
